Cyberport Incubation Programme Alumnus Wins Top Honour at FinTech Awards

19 Cyberport FinTech Companies Win 20 Awards, Exemplifying Cyberport's Status as Leading FinTech Hub

Hong Kong, 17 January 2020 – A Cyberport Incubation Programme alumnus, Quantifeed, has been named FinTech of the Year at the FinTech Awards 2019 organised by ET Net, ending the dominance by traditional financial institutions on the top prize in the past two years. A total of 19 Cyberport Community FinTech companies received 20 awards at the third FinTech Awards across nine categories, including AI, Big Data, Blockchain Solutions, Cybersecurity, FX/ Payment Solutions, Insurance, Lending, Trading Systems and Wealth Investment and Management, demonstrating Cyberport's leading position as a FinTech hub in Hong Kong.

Peter Yan, Chief Executive Officer of Cyberport, said, "Through talent cultivation, building a holistic start-up ecosystem, and encouraging traditional financial institutions to adopt innovative solutions, Cyberport is committed to promoting the development of Hong Kong's FinTech sector on all fronts. It is my pleasure to see 19 of Cyberport's FinTech companies from various disciplines receive awards for their achievements, exemplifying the diversity in Cyberport's FinTech community and the variety of facets along the value chain it covers."

"We are proud to see Quantifeed, an alumnus of the Cyberport Incubation Programme, be named FinTech of the Year 2019. Their achievement is a concrete example of Cyberport's FinTech start-ups maturing and receiving recognition from the financial industry. Cyberport will continue to work with financial institutions and regulatory bodies, as well as other stakeholders, to bring forth innovative FinTech solutions for the industry and the general public for financial inclusion," Yan continued.

Quantifeed, named FinTech of the Year 2019 and Outstanding B2B Robo-advice Platform by ET Net, was founded in 2013 and joined the Cyberport Incubation Programme in 2014. Quantifeed provides scalable and highly customisable digital wealth and robo-advisory solutions for banks, brokers, insurers and wealth planners across Asia. Its configurable robo-technology platform enables financial institutions to meet their clients' wealth management objectives, significantly reducing operational costs and improving efficiency. In the past year, Quantifeed has collaborated with Everbright Sun Hung Kai and China CITIC Bank International to democratise wealth management by bringing transparent, affordable and accessible investment solutions to retail customers. These solutions give customers a simple and engaging way to manage their wealth any time and on any device.

Dr Alex Ypsilanti, Chief Executive Officer and Co-founder of Quantifeed, said, “We are honoured to be named FinTech of the Year 2019 and Outstanding B2B Robo-advice Platform, an achievement that would not have been possible without the support from our clients, partners, investors and team members. We have been part of the Cyberport community since joining the Cyberport Incubation Programme in 2014, and Cyberport has played a tremendous role in nurturing FinTech start-ups like Quantifeed and connecting the entire FinTech ecosystem for us to grow and continue to innovate. We look forward to working with more financial institutions in Hong Kong to help transform them into providers of wealthcare – a customer-centric service focused on meeting everyone’s wealth management needs.”

Cyberport – Hong Kong’s Leading FinTech Hub

As the largest FinTech Hub in Hong Kong, Cyberport houses more than 380 FinTech start-ups and companies covering multiple areas in FinTech, such as virtual banking, InsurTech, RegTech, payment solutions, cybersecurity, and more. In addition to supporting start-ups through the incubation programme, Cyberport also acts as a "bridge" and "facilitator", helping start-ups connect with potential investors and customers as well as explore the mainland and overseas markets, all whilst attracting international FinTech talent and companies, creating a new driving force for economic growth and strengthening Hong Kong's position as Asia's leading financial centre.

The Judging Panel of the FinTech Awards 2019 by ET Net consists of professionals of the FinTech and ICT industry, with members from relevant industry and professional associations, companies, educational institutes, and government bodies. Judging criteria for the awards include Innovation & Creativity, Functionality, Marketability, Impact, and Benefits.
